BOLD AND TOUGH

SEASONED VETERAN BATTLES TO FIRST STAKES WIN

BY EMILY SHIELDS

Bold Fantasy had never won a stakes race, but he was an exemplary model of the California-bred warhorse. In 36 starts over five years, he had earned more than $250,000, proving his class and longevity while only racing against stakes company four times.

At the Big Fresno Fair Oct. 6, Bold Fantasy added another feather in his cap: the $100,000 Harris Farms Stakes. The tough dark bay gelding by Bertrando—Fantasy Rocks, by Rock Hard Ten, rallied to catch favored Fashionably Fast by a head. The two runners finished 9/4 lengths ahead of third-place runner Isa Firecracker, finishing the six-furlong contest in 1:10.67.

Jockey Irving Orozco was aboard for trainer Jonathan Wong, who has only been conditioning Bold Fantasy since claiming him for $25,000 June 24.

“I thought the race on paper looked like it was going to set up good for us,” Wong said a few days after the victory. “Irving gave the horse a great ride.”

Bold Fantasy was sent off as the third choice in a field of six, with multiple graded stakes winner Masochistic second choice in his first start since March. Masochistic, a Cal-bred son of Sought After, was initially retired before making his comeback; he finished fifth after setting the early pace.

Steve and Maria Pavich bred Bold Fantasy, having acquired his dam, Fantasy Rocks, for only $4,000 at the Barretts fall sale in 2010. The mare was carrying Bold Fantasy at the time. Bold Fantasy was sold as a yearling for $25,000 to Curt and Lila Laning at the 2012 Barretts October fall sale. Trainer Ed Moger Jr. selected him out of the sale and trained him throughout much of his career.

Bold Fantasy debuted at Del Mar Aug. 7, 2013, later breaking his maiden at Santa Anita in his sixth start. He won allowance races each year from 2014 through 2016, then took most of 2017 off with injury. When he returned, Moger was also listed as his owner for just two starts before he lost the gelding to Wong.

Bold Fantasy's new owners are Michael Nentwig and Nick and Ryan Cosato's Slam Dunk Racing.

“I'm very grateful and appreciative to his owners for believing in the horse and giving me the opportunity to train him,” Wong said. “Bold Fantasy is such a classy horse that really enjoys his job, and he is such a pleasure to be around. It was awesome; I'm still excited.”

With the Harris Farms Stakes victory, Bold Fantasy boosted his earnings to $316,735. In addition to his seven wins in 37 starts, he has four seconds and eight thirds.

Fantasy Rocks is still under Steve Pavich's care in Wilton, Calif., outside of Elk Grove. She is unraced, but has also produced the stakes winner Fantasy of Luck, by Lucky Pulpit, and the winner Mariana Grace, by Papa Clem. All three of Fantasy Rocks' runners have won.

The mare was barren to Curlin to Mischief for 2017. She produced a Flashback filly on May 25. Fantasy of Luck was not bred for 2019, but she will visit a Kentucky stallion early next year. Her total progeny earnings are $490,216. CTB
